

I, _____ have reviewed all of the following building erection drawings, including all walls, roof, door and window openings as well as overhangs for correct locations and sizes. I have also reviewed all beam and column placements on the anchor bolt section of the plans.

I accept the engineering recreation page as shown. I personally accept that if there were any questions, I confirmed them with my salesman and/or appropriate council to confirm the engineering as shown on the drawings presented (if not stamped by ProAm Steel).

I understand that my building will be manufactured to match this approved set of drawings and that my signature will act as production approval for this project.
